STRIKES REPORTED IN RED RUSSIA LENINE TO QUIT

Complete Collapse of Kolchak Government is Seen, Due to Lack of Supplies

See End of Admiral's Effort Unless Radical Measures are Taken

Copenhagen, Aug. 11—Premier Lenin, it is reported, intends to retire from the head of the Bolshevik government, according to dispatches from Helsingford quoting Russian reports.

Strikes are reported to be raging everywhere in Bolshevik controlled territory. One hundred and fifty strike leaders were said to have been executed.

Washington, Aug. 11—Complete collapse of the Kolchak government in Siberia was forecast in reports received in Washington today. Kolchak forces have fallen back almost 200 miles from their former advanced lines and Omsk was said to be threatened with evacuation.

Inadequate Supplies

Failure of the allied and associated government to get adequate supplies to Admiral Kolchak, the advoates say, had forced him to fall back steadily before the greatly superior Bolshevik forces, composed of veterans whose officers include many Germans, who fled to Russia when the armistice was signed.

Officers here are known to regard Kochak's efforts at an end unless most radical measures are ordered by outside governments, and it was suggested that the President might call the attention of congress to the imminence of Bolshevik control of all Siberia.

The proposition of extending aid to Admiral Kolchak received the support of President Wilson and his assistants at the peace conference in Paris but the getting of supplies to him was found to be more of a military than a diplomatic problem. France, England and Japan were in position politically to offer supplies but the position of the United States was not so clear on that point. Some officials held that for the United States to participate in an extensive support congressional action would be necessary.

American Force

The American force in Siberia is far from the Kolchak-Bolshevik lines. It was placed there for the announced purpose of guarding supplies at Vladivostok and the protection of the trans-Siberian railroad. The status of the British force was quite difficult for the mission of that army was to establish line of communication with Admiral Kolchak's army making possible the use of Archangel as a base of supplies.

It has failed. The stretch between Archangel and Kolchak has increased until it is now apparent little hope remains of Kolchak recovering unless much larger forces are sent to his support.

Unless Article Ten and Monroe Doctrine Provision are Changed

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 12—American independence can be of greater service to the world than America fettered by the League of Nations covenant, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader of the senate, asserted in his speech to the senate on the League.

Meddling in all differences which may arise among the nations will cause us to fritter away our influence and injure ourselves to no good purpose. Lodge denied this means a policy of American isolation—that he says is no longer possible because the United States became a world power at the time of the war with Spain.

"Nobody expects to isolate the United States or make it a hermit nation, but there is a wide difference between taking a suitable part in the world's responsibilities and plunging our country into every controversy and conflict on the face of the globe. One great element was that we had held aloof and had not thrust ourselves in the European conflict with a selfish interest."

Lodge declared that the league covenant instead of providing for universal peace really sets up an alliance. The present provision provides for war and not peace.

Senator Lodge declared that so long as article ten remains in its present form and the provision covering the Monroe Doctrine and control of domestic questions are unaltered he will not vote for the treaty.

army, combining military training with training for the vocations and for civil life. Agriculturally the immediate results will be large, for the farmer-soldiers of the expeditionary forces are being stirred to a full realization of their opportunities and their obligations in the rural field. They are thinking as they never thought before about the rural tasks that await them back home, and they are likely to return better qualified to deal with them and with a new spirit toward them."

THE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Today will begin the drive of the Salvation Army for funds for home service work. This organization, once derided if not despised by the average well meaning citizen, because of its unusual methods, is now held in the highest esteem by everyone interested in welfare work for the community. The self sacrificing devotion to duty of the Salvation army lassies at the battle fronts in France, where they ministered to the comfort of our sorely tried boys in the trenches, regardless in many instances of flying shells and shrapnel and deadly gas, has endeared them to every soldier who was in the service, and every American parent who will never forget the service rendered to son and brother.

And all realize now that their services in civil life is none the less heroic and valuable, and should be liberally, even generously supported by everyone. Then don't forget in the next few days to give and give generously for so good and worthy a cause.

because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true womanly beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physical machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nerve for woman—namely, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take castor oil or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Edible Mushrooms, Growing Wild, are Very Plentiful This Year, Even

ENCUMBERING LAWNS IN CITY

People Who Understand Them Can Procure Delicious Food by Using Them

This present summer has been an exceptional year for mushrooms. Lawns and woods are full of them. Right now a very excellent one can be found in nearly every front yard. It is the fairy ring mushroom so called from its tendency to grow in a circle. The botanical name is marasmius oreades.

Its destructiveness to lawns can be compensated for by making it an article of food, and its delicious too. Fried in butter with pepper and salt or used for a seasoning for gravy it is not to be despised.

Even when dried and apparently withered this mushroom is good. A little water will restore it and unlike many other kinds it is not the host of worms when a little old. People who are not afraid should gather them and eat all they desire and set aside the rest to dry for future use.

Thousands of dollars of food is permitted to go to waste because the people are not taught to distinguish between edible and poisonous mushrooms. The common mushroom bought in cans, the azuricus campestris, is not nearly so delicious a variety as some growing commonly in the woods.

No one without exact knowledge of the mushrooms should gather those growing in the woods. Some are deadly, some emetic and some indigestible. But the little brown capped one with the delicate array of gills beneath now growing in the lawns is both abundant and good.

Will Serve Dinner

The Ladies Aid of the Vaale Long Lake church will serve a one o'clock dinner, Sunday, August 17, at the home of Ole Sunde. The menu will consist of scalloped potatoes, meat balls, boiled ham, baked beans, bread, butter, coffee and apple pie. Bring the family and come along. Tickets are selling at 35 cents.

CULPRIT IS HARD
TO RUN TO EARTHCOST OF LIVING AND LABOR QUESTION ARE PUZZLE TO OUR GOVERNMENT.

WORKERS TIRED OF STRIKES

They Ask That Purchasing Power of the Dollar Be Restored and That Necessity of Further Wage Increases Be Averted.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—As leading members of both parties in congress view the matter, the high cost of living and the labor question are to be two of the most prominent issues in the coming presidential campaign. The two questions in a way are interlocked and there has been evidence of this fact in Washington for some time, before the recent conferences that marked the beginning of real activity by the administration to restore the purchasing value of the dollar.

Congress has been investigating through a committee, and still is investigating, the high cost of living in the District of Columbia. The law makers have legislative control over the district and here they have full power to go at things and to pass remedial legislation without running afoul of constitutional or other questions. Of course the subject is one which covers the entire territory of the United States, but perhaps conditions in one place are the result of causes which act in other places. Congress, however, intends now to make a country-wide survey of the situation.

The word "mutterings" frequently is used to describe a condition which exists before things happen. Washington hears that there are mutterings all over the country. A few days ago the head of a great conservative labor organization called on the president of the United States and told him that while his order had been granted increases in wages comparatively recently, it would be necessary to demand another increase unless the high cost of living came down.

This same thing is being told to congressmen by wage earners all over the United States. The problem which confronts the law makers is "How can the high cost of living be brought down, and the necessity for further increases in wages, which it is almost impossible for some employers to pay, be averted?"

All Shifting the Blame.

The instant that law makers start on an investigation of a subject of this kind the first answer to the main question always is "supply and demand." Some of the law makers say that this no longer is an adequate answer, even though many men from time immemorial have declared that the answer is an axiom.

Men outside of congress who have looked into the subject, students of economics and others, have said that there is a unanimous disposition among the producers, the middle men, the wholesalers and the retailers to shift the blame. They report that the attempt to find the place where there is too much profit is the hardest task which they ever undertook.

Both parties in congress have charged profiteering, but neither party seems to know just where the profiteering is under way, although in some cases there have been specific instances stated. So far as the District of Columbia is concerned, the direct charge has been made that landlords and some storekeepers have watched carefully for increases of pay among the government employees and instantly have advanced their prices so as to absorb the additional money which congress has voted to the workers. Of course if this could be proved it would be about as glaring a case of taking money from the "innocents" as could be adduced.

Justified, Say Landlords.

Landlords here say that under wartime legislation restricting the raising of rents they lost money and that they have got to advance the prices a reasonable amount in order to make a legitimate profit. What the landlords of the District of Columbia say is just about parallel to some of the answers made by other industries which have been accused of profiteering.

The counsel for one of the greatest organizations of labor in the United States told me the other day that laboring men everywhere tell him they are tired of striking, that they want adequate pay, of course, but that they do not want to have to strike constantly in order to get money enough to pay the landlord, the butcher, the baker and the milk man. The intimation of the counsel was that if the cost of living in some way could be regulated so that food men, clothing men, and landlords could get a fair profit, and the salary and the wage earners could live and put aside a little money, there would be a sudden dropping off in strikes and a sudden disappearance of discontent.

This is all beautiful, and so the lawmakers say, but they would like it better if somebody would point a way to find out definitely just where the trouble is, and if it is possible, with things as they are in the world, so enable a $1 a day man to have what the French king once said his peasants all ought to have, "a fowl in the pot every Sunday," with meat and vegetables in proportion on the other days of the week and with food, clothing, a good house and schooling for his children.

LACK MICE FOR STUDY OF CANCER

Doctor Wood of Columbia Reports Shortage Because Armies Needed Them.

HELD UP RESEARCH WORK

War's Absorption of Scientists Who Entered Service Also Retarded Investigations in Disease—Death Rate Jumps.

New York.—Study of cancer during the war was impeded, not only by taking physicians from research work but because of the shortage of mice, which were used in large quantities with the allied armies for the detection of gas and the diagnosis of certain types of disease, according to the report of Dr. Francis Carter Wood, director of the George Crocker special research fund of Columbia university. Thousands of mice which had been raised for research work were turned over to the government. The mice breathe very rapidly and are far more sensitive to gases than human beings, so that they were kept in exposed sectors and observed closely, because their behavior would indicate the coming of gas long before it could be detected by human beings. It was also announced that mice had been sent out on board every submarine, for the same purpose.

Mice React to Gas.

One of the most common troubles on submarines has been from chlorine, due to wet batteries. The mice react to the gas long before it is dangerous, or even perceptible, to the crew, thus enabling them to find the difficulty and repair it before the air becomes so tainted as to be dangerous. In the British army hundreds of canaries were used, as well as mice, for the detection of gas. In addition to supplying thousands of mice to the government, the George Crocker special research fund raised enough, however, to supply many medical schools and research laboratories throughout the country.

The other use of mice in the war was in discriminating between the various types of pneumonia prevalent at different times. Different types of the disease are treated differently, but it is often found impossible to discriminate between the different classes of symptoms in men. When mice were inoculated with the germs, however, effects were produced which readily classified the disease.

Doctor Wood reported that various changes in cancer statistics has resulted during the war, especially in England, where large classes of the population had been sent to the war, but that a careful analysis of the figures showed that the changes were mainly due to dislocation of classes of population, not to any remarkable increase or decrease in the disease itself.

Death Rate Jumped.

As cancer is most prevalent in persons over the military age, the proportion of deaths from this cause naturally jumped, where the proportion of men of younger ages was reduced. In this country, likewise, the records were found to show that cancer was most prevalent in Vermont and least so in Utah and Montana, but this was explained as being due to the fact that a large percentage of the youth of Vermont had migrated and that a larger proportion of the population in the western states was composed of newcomers, generally young men and women.

Among countries, cancer mortality was greater in Switzerland, and was highest generally where the highest civilization was found. Doctor Wood supposes this to be due, not to any connection between cancer and a high state of civilization, but to the fact that cancer is less often diagnosed and reported as the cause of death in countries like Russia.

HAVE NO ONE TO PUT IN JAIL

Mayor of Canton Wants to Know What Use the Prison Is in His Town.

Canton, O.—"What good is a jail when there is no one to put in it?"

This query was sprung by Mayor Poorman, and when he failed to get any answers from other officials he announced he would recommend that the old city jail in the basement of the city hall be abandoned and the space be repaired and converted into office rooms for the city building commission.

"The jail is of no use now," said Mayor Poorman. "It has only been used for several years for drunks and slackers and now we have none of these. The new jail is sufficiently large to take care of all prisoners," the mayor added.

A whole unopened barrel of china dishes was recovered, only a few on the top being broken.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Best Today

Into the rural village for the setting, and into a woman's soul for the theme, David Wark Griffith has gone for the materials of his new Artcraft picture "True Heart Susie," which will be shown at the Best theatre to-night.

Lillian Gish appears as the girl who waits, a repressed role which absorbs the full power of her acting. Robert Harron, as the boy who becomes a minister, will remind the world of some it knows, and give to it a chuckle never forgotten. Clarine Seymour is introduced as a merry young milliner from Chicago.

"Stepping-out" was one of the best little things John Rutherford Wayne did. Sometimes he "stepped out" with the boys. More often he "stepped out" with Rita, a gay little cafe habitue who camped at the Free Spirits Cafe, the rendezvous of the free-lovers of Bohemia.

It wouldn't be fair to tell how it worked out, but it was unique and thrilling, and dramatic, and original, and Rita got what was coming to her and he made up for the wrong he'd done.

You can see how it all happened in "Tangled Threads," starring Bessie Barriscale, produced for Robertson-Cole by B. B. Features, Inc., and released by Exhibitors Mutual.

Peach Tree Grown in Pot.

Recent importations of the United States bureau of plant industry include a pot-grown peach tree from Rev. George Campbell, a South China missionary. A tree only 15 inches tall ripened five good-sized edible clingstone peaches. The plant is said to come true to seed, and it is predicted that fruit growers will develop a remarkable new race of dwarf peaches.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE GIVEN BIG IMPETUS

Cuyuna Range Defense League Sends Check for $1800 the Quota for the Range Towns

BRAINERD DRIVE OPEN TONIGHT

When City Band will Play and Capt. Saunders will Speak at Corner Front and Sixth Streets

The Cuyuna Range Defense league sent in a check this morning to Fred L. Sanborn for eighteen hundred dollars as its share of the county apportionment for the Salvation Army drive. This league has generously supported every philanthropic activity in the county for the past four years, sometimes going largely beyond its quota for the general good. This is the first large sum received by the local committee and argues well for the success of the movement to raise ten thousand dollars for the building of suitable quarters for the local Salvation Army corps.

Sunday the various ministers of the city announced the campaign from their pulpits and in several instances gave an extended appeal to their congregations for this splendid philanthropy. With commendable accommodations the Army could very greatly increase its efficiency in religious and humanitarian work.

The local drive will be given a push this evening at the open air meeting on the corner of Sixth and Front streets when the band and Miss Signe Saunders will do their part for the cause.

MARKETING PLANS WERE DISCUSSED

Deputy Commissioner H. J. Hughes of Marketing Bureau State Department of Agriculture

MET WITH THE FARMERS HERE

Drought Situation in Western States Explained—Potato and South Apples

Deputy Commissioner H. J. Hughes of the Marketing Bureau of the State Department of Agriculture met with some of the farmers and merchants at the Chamber of Commerce rooms August 8th to discuss different marketing phases in the county. Mr. Hughes explained the drought situation in the western states and stated that there is a hay shortage in Montana of a million tons. He stated that not nearly as many cattle and sheep were to be pastured in Northern Minnesota or Wisconsin as had been predicted for the reason that the bankers of Montana have in the past two years loaned money on this stock to such an extent that they now practically own the stock and are forcing them, ranchers and stockmen, to dump their cattle on the market in whatever condition they may be. He advises farmers and loan owners in Minnesota or elsewhere who have hay enough for the winter to purchase at the markets, feeders that are being dumped there at very low prices.

The potato situation was also taken up. Mr. Hughes advises the growing of standard varieties of potatoes to supply market demands. Potatoes, when demanded by the buyer, are always to be of uniform type either early or late and it was agreed by all present that in order to secure this uniformity of type, standard varieties must be grown.

Southern Minnesota has a large excess of apples and the commissioner is trying to secure markets for them in the different parts of Minnesota where apples are not grown. Arrangements were made with some of the local merchants to secure some of these apples from these southern growers for the demands in Brainerd.

DRIVE ON DRUG TRAFFIC

Baltimore, Aug. 11.—In an effort to stamp out the illegal traffic in narcotic drugs in Baltimore, United States revenue officials and deputy United States marshals arrested seven physicians and three pharmacists yesterday. The lockup at the United States marshal's office was crowded with drug addicts taken to be held as state witnesses.

Montana Glacier Melting

Billings, Mont., Aug. 11.—The glazier about Rosebud lake continues to melt rapidly in the unusual weather and may disappear this summer, it is feared. The sheet of ice is perhaps millions of years old and has been one of the wonders of the Northwest, although little known. It lies amid hills usually snowcapped, but which in this hot summer are bare and brown.

Since the armistice was signed on November 11, a total of 44,839 officers have been commissioned in the United States reserve corps. The majority of these saw active service and desire to keep in touch with military affairs.

Chivalrous Private.

The wife of a wounded soldier was given a permit to France to see him before he died, says the London (England) Morning Post. The funeral was on a wet, cold day. At the graveside the chaplain whispered to the woman: "Now I am going to offer up a prayer." Then I must kneel," she said. "No never mind kneeling; just stand," he whispered again. But a Tommy understood her distress, slipped off his coat, rolled it pillow-fashion, and laid it for her on the soggy ground, so she kneel; and was comforted.

Fiction Concerning Sargossa Sea.

The Sargossa sea in the north Atlantic is an area through which ocean currents pass. It is comparatively still water, forming a sort of eddy into which seaweed tends to drift. Writers of fiction have held that the dead ships of the ages have found resting places in this eddy and have peopled them with the spirits of lost mariners. The idea is pure fiction. The Sargossa sea may be navigated without experiencing any difficulty with seaweed and without seeing a derelict.

RED SOX MAY PUT BUSH ON SECOND

Boston baseball fans had two interesting items to discuss as a result of developments, namely, the unconditional release of Ray Caldwell, pitcher, and Dave Shean, second baseman, by the Red Sox, and the grabbing up by the Braves of eight New England League stars. The release of Shean and Caldwell can hardly be classed as a bombshell, as neither has shown what would be called world champion form. With Shannon at second coming like a house afire and McNeilly ever available as utility man, Frazee could not see any reason for carrying Shean on the payroll. It is also suspected Bullet Joe Bush, a la Babe Ruth, has second base aspirations now that his pitching arm bothers him.

Likely Gift.

Graves—Young Percy Spendthrift is celebrating his marriage and also his birthday today. I wonder what the wealthy bride will give him for a birthday present?

Toombes—Likely her bank book with the sentiment, "Always yours."

His Fault.

Mrs. Penham—We became engaged under the mistletoe.

Benham—I know it, but I'm not blaming the blamed plant; it didn't grow over my head, and I got under it, knowing all its deadly properties.

The veteran Jack Lewis will be out of the Memphis lineup indefinitely. His injury is a jaw battered by a foul ball.

Roy Patterson, after celebrating his forty-first birthday, went out and pitched a neat victory for Minneapolis over Milwaukee.

Manager Coleman of Mobile released Pitcher Arthur Johnson, though he had won four and lost but two for a second division club.

When Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees, was in St. Louis he had a conference with Hugh High, his balking outfielder, as a result of which High agreed to report to Vernon of the Coast league.

PIRATES UNCOVER STAR

The Pittsburgh Pirates have a coming all-around star in Clifford Lee. He is a sub catcher, but he recently proved his worth as an outfielder when Casey Stengel was banished from a game against the Phillies. Lee pulled down a swift fly from the bat of Cravath near the Phillie flagpole, walked once and hit twice safely in four trips to the plate.

BASEBALL STORIES

Peckinpaugh shows no letup in his stickwork.

They are playing scrappy ball in the International.

Old Man East has been pitching some great ball for Sioux City.

George Johnson has resigned his job as umpire in the American association.

Buffalo's opening day attendance in the International is said to have been less than 2,000.

C. R. Hendrix of the Chicago Cubs is one of the best batting pitchers in the major leagues.

Pat Martin, pitcher, recently returned from overseas, has joined Blanton in the International.

The New York fans are looking for the guy who wrote those immortal lines, "The Yanks are coming."

The St. Louis Browns are certainly setting a pretty fast pace in the American league race just now.

Tom Lukano, the young pitcher who was destined to set the Coast league by the ears, failed to come across.

Lieutenant Colonel Bittle of the fourth division, led 1,261 marksmen in the American army tournament at Lemans, France.

A. Schulz, who played with the Brewers during the training season, is going along nicely for the Joplin club of the Western league.

THE COMFORTS of the American Home

It is a well-known fact that, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the piano, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless electrical appliances.

There is a well-kept look about residence, store or out-buildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.

Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how the condition was brought about?

It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.

Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your everyday life, you first heard of through newspaper advertisements.

You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life.

Read the advertisements, in the newspapers regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

Cloth From Pineapples.

Aside from its edible qualities the pineapple is little known in this country, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. In China, however, it is especially cultivated for the use of the leaves in making cloth. The fiber is extracted from the leaves by a simple process and made into thread. It is then run on hobbins and spools and is ready for weaving, the old native looms being employed.

To Keep Books Fresh.

To prevent mold on books, place a few drops of lavender and Canadian balsam in a back corner of each shelf. This will not injure the bindings of leather books as sulphur compounds do, but helps to preserve the bindings. The two substances are easily obtained.

This Man Intends to to Keep it in the House

"In May or June, 1913, I sent to you and got four bottles which are remarkable as his batting. He has crossed the plate 43 times in 54 games. If this rate is maintained until the end of the season he will practically Cobb's mark of 147 runs, made in 1911."

Roger Peckinpaugh.

Ingenious Automobile Thief.
An automobile owner at Hollowell, leaving his car, hitched it to a tree by winding a chain around one of the wheels of the machine and fastening the end of the chain around a tree. An automobile thief jacked up the car, loosened the wheel which was chained to the tree, took it off, and then removing the extra wheel from the rear of the car put it on in the place of the wheel which had been dropped off and drove away, leaving the single wheel chained to the tree.
